

Kataleifos Interview Question 1

Kataleifos:

Brides was our third collaboration, not the second. There was Stone Years first, then It's a Long Road, and after that Brides. We have collaborated three times. The first movie, Stone Years, was basically my first appearance in film. It was my first role. Before it came some small roles; this was the first role entrusted to me by Voulgaris, in 1983-84. Then came It's a Long Road in 1999 and Brides in 2005. The difference in this third film was that there were producers from the US, Barbara DeFina, if I remember correctly, who collaborates with Scorsese. Since many foreign actors were participating, the entire atmosphere of this film was different, it was a more international film. Less Greek than the previous two films, which were exclusively Greek. It was a nice experience because I met foreign actors, we acted in a different language. Because the film was in English, it was a kind of game for me, since I always act in Greek. It was a nice game.
